Hitler Reported As Still Awaiting Answer On Peace

German Quarters Insist That Final Word Has Not Been Spoken

CHAMBERLAIN WILL ANSWER THURSDAY

Nazi Interpretation Of Daladier's Speech Is That Definite Word Not Given

BERLIN Oct. 11.—Reichsfuhrer Adolf Hitler is still awaiting a final, unequivocal
"yes or no" answer to his peace proposals before Nazi Germany concludes that there is no alternative to unrestricted war in Europe.

Authoritative German quarters insisted today that in his radio address last night, Premier Edouard Daladier of France had not slammed
the door with utmost finality upon the Fuehrer's peace proposals.

On the contrary, it was said, Daladier's speech paralleled that of Hitler himself "in its mutual expression of desire for permanent European peace based upon security guarantees."

German spokesmen took the view that Hitler has repeatedly guaranteed the security of France, insisting time and again that Germany has no territorial aspirations in the west.

(Editor's Note: In contradistinction to the German attitude, well-informed British and French sources are of the opinion that Germany
has no territorial aspirations in the
west.)

PA NEW OBSERVES

Telephone users out along the Harlansburg road section are all excited over the prospect of getting new phones. Since the Harlansburg line was taken over by the Bell Company workmen have been engaged stringing cable. The work is now almost completed, ready for the installation of new phones.

Erick Nelson, prominent farmer, residing a short distance west of Bessemer, was up at the court house yesterday, and observed that his section of the county, is so dry that many of the farmers are still hauling water for their cattle and in many cases for domestic use. Recent rains, he says, have failed to revive the wells and springs. He thinks it will take a week or so of rain.

Justice of the Peace C. L. Zedaker, alias the "merry Squire" of New Bedford, was up at the court house yesterday, turning in a cargo of marriage returns. He says that he had a real wedding the other day when a woman's organization was meeting at his home. Some forty women witnessed the ceremony, and all declared they never saw a knot tied any tighter. But you never can tell there's such a thing as a slip-knot, you know.

Pa New notes that the Lawrence
County Dairy Herd Improvement Association has just chosen officers for the ensuing year. This organization is engaged in the very laudable enterprise of breeding better cattle.
When one observes the many herds of contented cows seen in our rural districts, and compares them with those of other sections, it is not surprising that the Lawrence County association is so successful.

Daladier's Speech Is Praised In Britain

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 11.—British government quarters today praised the declaration of French Premier Edouard Daladier that France would not consider making peace with Germany until a certain guarantee of security was obtained.

Well informed circles regarded Daladier's remarks not only as the most effective interim reply to Chancellor Hitler's "peace" address to the Reichstag, but also to German statements that the Allies are wavering or that Anglo-French political harmony is incomplete.

The reception accorded Daladier's radio address indicated Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain will adopt a similar tone when he addresses the house of commons tomorrow in a full reply to Hitler.
In his address, Daladier termed Hitler's offer of peace a "ruse" based on "force and violence" and said Britain and France would keep on fighting "until the world has been restored to a peace of justice and security . . . freed from the menace of conquests and surprises
every six months."

President Is Not Making Peace Move Unless Given Request By Belligerents

By GEORGE DUNO
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Germany and the Allies knew more definitely today that President Roosevelt has no intention of acting as a mediator in the European war unless officially requested by the belligerents.

Prospects that the president would be asked to play such a role appeared more remote in view of the radio speech of French Premier Edouard Daladier in which he said
"we stand with Great Britain against Hitler's demands."

Not To Be Smoked Out
In any event, Mr. Roosevelt personally let it be known that news dispatches out of Berlin quoting anonymous sources would fail to smoke him out into the position of offering his services as a peacemaker before he had any assurance whatever that either side was actively bidding for an armistice.

White House attaches were hopeful that the president's press conference comments would serve to clarify the situation.

MISS POLLOCK GUEST SPEAKER BEFORE GUILD

The home of Miss Miriam Wallace, near Mt. Jackson, was the scene of an especially interesting meeting Monday night, when she entertained as guests, the Porter-Reed Guild Girls of Westfield Presbyterian church, who had as guest speaker, Miss Theodora Pollock.

After the usual routine was conducted with Miss Marie McCurley leading, Mrs. Clifford M. Propst, Young Peoples' senior secretary in Shenango Presbyterian, presented Miss Pollock, the latter being former president of the Lawrence County Christian Endeavor Union. Miss Pollock gave an enlightening talk on her trip to Alaska relating the customs of the people, their ways of travel and means of livelihood, which held the close attention of everyone. In addition, she displayed unusual varieties of flowers, many beautiful pictures, valued pieces of jewelry and other trinkets from the great north.

The foreign topic "India" was contributed by Miss Viola Paden. Following, Miss Ruth Emery pleased with a solo, accompanied by Miss Nancy Robinson.

In conclusion, lunch was served at a beautifully appointed table in the dining room, the approaching hallowe'en season being carried out in the details.

The next regular meeting will be with Miss Elizabeth Dickson, near Edenburg, the date to be announced.

LUNCHEON-TALK FOR LADIES OF THE LIONS

A prettily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon served in a prominent downtown tea room and an intriguing talk by Mrs. C. C. Taylor, of Pittsburgh, marked the first assembly for the Ladies of the Lions when they gathered Tuesday afternoon following the summer recess period.

Places were marked for nearly 40, including two guests, and after serving of a deliciously prepared menu, a short business period was conducted by President Mrs. Earl Wimer.

The program chairman, Mrs. A. H. Bonard, took charge and introduced Mrs. C. C. Taylor as guest speaker. Mrs. Taylor won the hearts of the women with her touching and enlightening talk entitled, "The Second Mile," which dealt with the work of the blind. She, being a victim of blindness in her later years, gave the inside story of the thoughts and hopes of such persons. Mrs. Taylor and Helen Keller are the only two having the distinction of belonging to Lions International and the former is also a member of the Executive Council of Pennsylvania State Council for the Blind. In conclusion, Mrs. Taylor stressed that the state does extend pensions for blind people but does not put aside any money for medical treatment in which to aid and prevent blindness. "Persons afflicted with blindness do not want sympathy or to be treated like babies, but support to enable them to be independent," was her closing thought.

The social and program committees were hostesses for the day, and on Tuesday, November 14, the group will meet with Mrs. John Walter on Delaware avenue, with Mrs. A. H. Bonard chairman of the program.

BUSINESS IN AMERICA

BASIC business conditions in the United States have been steadily improving since Hitler invaded Poland and France and England declared war on Germany. Steel is always a barometer of American business and the Alexander Hamilton Institute reports that during the middle of September the actual expansion showed an increase from 70.2 per cent of capacity to 79.3 per cent in one week.

The United States has been wallowing in the trough of the "recession" for nearly two years. The war may be the temporary remedy for the condition rather than a new dose of pump priming such as was suggested by the President only a few short weeks ago.

One can hardly forget the similarity of conditions now to those in 1914. In 1913 the United States started sliding into a first class business depression. Manufacturing was stagnant and railway sidings over the country were loaded with empty and idle box cars. Then the war changed everything and within a few short months we forgot about the Wilson depression.

In fact, by the time the 1916 election rolled around the political issue, which had been depression in the 1914 congressional campaign was changed to one of "he keeps us out of war." There is of course a chance that the parallel will continue in 1940.

We ought to remember, however, that we paid a dear price for the war business which began coming to us early in 1915. We paid it not only in the loss of thousands of fine young Americans who were killed or wounded in France but later in the crippling of our agriculture and industry and later in the greatest panic which the country had ever known.

War prosperity is always paid for in economic as well as physical suffering. That is why we ought to be careful about what we do now. We want sound prosperity if this is possible to attain now, not a fever due to fool's gold.

MOST OF THE FIRES ARE PREVENTABLE

If the Fire Prevention Week drive now under way brings home to individual householders the fact that nearly every fire could have been prevented by ordinary precautions, it will have achieved a great deal.

Where rubbish is permitted to pile up in cellars, attics and store-rooms; where cigars and cigarettes are left to burn themselves out; where furnaces are improperly tended and hot ashes are placed in wooden or cardboard receptacles, fires are going to occur. Where these conditions are avoided, fires will largely be avoided, too.

It would be an excellent observance of Fire Prevention Week if householders were to take special pains to remove from their properties the old papers, magazines and assorted litter that accumulate in almost every home and are a perennial cause of destructive—and preventable—fires.

RUSSIA THE RESCUER

Since Stalin and Hitler became pals, it has seemed almost unfair to laugh at the plight of Communists strangling and gagging on their own words of yesterday. So, without laughing, we point to a bit of news from France.

The French Communists, who were screaming for war against Germany a year ago, are now demanding that a "just" peace offer from Germany be considered, because they "are against imperialistic war" and "the Soviet Union is ready to assure a policy that will keep the peace and save French independence."

Is it not startling that the country which blessed Hitler in its latest imperialistic rampage, and which is even now gloating over half the spoils, should be so bitter against imperialism and so tenderly concerned about the independence of another country?—Cleveland News.

SENSIBLE OBSERVATIONS

Various attempts have been made already to produce war hysteria in the United States. If the war continues indefinitely, as now seems probable, it is apparent that these attempts will increase in tempo in an effort to induce the United States to abandon its neutrality and go into the war on the side of the allies.

The international propagandists see that the American people will not be foolish enough to fall again for a war "to make the world safe for democracy," or a "war to end all wars." The strategy now is rather to frighten the American people into believing that Hitler is about to overwhelm England and France, and that he will then come on over here to finish us. Therefore, they argue, the time to stop him is right now. This argument is, of course, thin and transparent. In the first place, Hitler hasn't got the allies licked yet, and in the second place he couldn't get over here if he had.

Former President Herbert Hoover rendered a distinct service in calling attention to the first of these facts in his recent interview by Roy W. Howard, editor of the New York World Telegram, when he pointed out that the allies still have control of the seven seas, while Germany is on short rations economically and cannot hope to win the war as completely as many people think. Continuing, Mr. Hoover said:

"From all this I have no fears that the allies will be defeated. Of course people can build up speculative hypotheses with combinations and fears not based on realities, and then get powerfully excited."

"We need to keep cool. After all we must keep out of this war. We would be yielding the last stand of democracy if we go in, win or lose. We would have to yield to dictatorship during the war, and in a quarter of a century of impoverishment afterward we would not get out of dictatorship. We would be destroying the possibility of being of aid in reconstruction of a demoralized world after it was all over."

In other words, now is the time for the American people to "keep their shirts on."

"As I pointed out last week"—remarks the great military publicist, secure in the knowledge that no one remembers.

A famed criminologist notes that few men commit acts of violence after a heavy meal. Hence the many after-dinner orators who escape unscathed.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHY SPANKING IS FOR CHILD

Just how are you going to teach a tot to mind? Hold him? Tie him? Seize him fiercely? Give him an ugly look? Shriek at him? Or would you give him some other bodily pain, such as a slap on the bare buttocks? Oh, you can put him in "jail." The quints are "jailed" when naughty. The "scientific" nursery "jail" is the old dark closet.

How will you get him into this "jail"? Will you drag him there bodily? How else? Holding or tying is pretty tortuous and slow. Seizing or shaking is dangerous. Give him a dirty look and what have you left for smiles of love? Shriek at him and how are you going to cultivate comradeship and affection? Why not use the hand to inflict the necessary pain in order to establish the control?

Many writers tell parents to isolate the young child in order to punish him. Isolate him from whom? They are thinking of the school room, where isolation from others his age can be very effective. But the home is vastly different from the school for practically all children. Many a little child would be glad to be out of the presence of his parents for a period of time. And suppose the youngster were sent to a room and were to begin some devilry there?

Be Practical
Why not be practical? As soon as your child has learned to respect authority, which should be acquired by the time he is three or four, punish him by assigning him to sit in a certain place where you can see him for a definite time (about 20 minutes). Let him know he will receive instant bodily pain if he should leave the chair without permission. This is very effective punishment, even up to the age of 10 or 12.

Suppose your child of six or seven has not yet learned the meaning of NO. He is pretty big for corporal punishment to be effective. You might, however, if you have adequate self-control, wisely begin to establish control over him. The easiest way might be to sentence him to stay right where he happens to be at the time, to sit if he likes, with assurance to him that he will get physical pain, perhaps a padding, if he leaves that place without permission for a specific time. This plan would limit all corporal punishment to one specific place and situation. It should be relatively safe and easy to enforce.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

GOOD POLITICS
James Macdonnell is a Pasadena, California banker. He is a strong-minded gentleman and is not satisfied with simply telling his business associates what he thinks about civic and national affairs, but he pays for space in the Pasadena Post and uses this space to express his ideas on government. My attention was called to one advertisement inserted recently by Mr. Macdonnell under the heading "Austrian Neutrality," in which he says:

"We say deliberately that the present neutrality law is not only unneutral but exceedingly hurtful to our vital interests. Russia, Italy, Japan are so far 'neutral' even though Russia has invaded Poland, and we are shipping them, so far as neutrality statutes are concerned, any sinews of war which they order. Canada, on the other hand, has declared herself in a state of war with nations which any American knows are, to say the least, unsympathetic to us. And so... we don't either sell her goods or need to furnish her with credits. Does anyone fail to see that those other so-called neutrals are pursuing courses inimical to everything for which this country stands? And what of Rumania, Turkey, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Belgium and Spain? Are we protecting ourselves from jeopardy when we stock up the armaments of countries which are just waiting to see which way the cat jumps? Are we not arming a world of willing and unwilling nations against Britain and France—and ultimately against ourselves? Let us recognize the difference between those who are our friends because they believe in the same way of life, that we reverence and those who are our real potential enemies because they are opposed to the principles on which our nation was founded."

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:28. Sun rises tomorrow 6:07.

A woman at Beaver got an allowance of $5.00 per week from her husband because he never kissed her after they were married and made her live in a chicken coop. Some gals might stand for the not kissing stuff, but the chicken coop, never!

Trying to make a good impression is a lot of wear on the lip-stick.

A postcard writer wants to know why the names of those who fail to get a driver's license are not made public. That gal is trying to start something bad.

How narrow and silly race prejudice seems to the tolerant people who never come within a mile of another race.

In many foreign countries people are riding bicycles instead of in automobiles to save gasoline. That's going on their own power all right.

TODAY'S STORYETTE
The late James P. Dunn, composer, dinked slip-show work and did not hesitate to criticize it.

At a tea in New York a girl seated at the piano, stopped her playing and turned to Mr. Dunn to say:

"You are very fond of music, aren't you, Mr. Dunn?"

"Yes," answered the composer, "but don't mind me, keep right on."

Describing the difference between a gun and a machine gun, a harried father said it is the same as between a man and a woman speaking.

Mother says not once since they have been married has Pap let her order ala carte.

There are people who want sound-proof houses, so noise can not be heard from one room to another. This, however, don't always keep the outside noises from going in.

Just imagine the feelings of the wets when they lose an election. Of course, the dries don't like it either when they lose, even if they don't take a drink.

PINNED DOWN

"Your honor," said the woman's lawyer in the divorce case. My client's husband was extremely cruel to her throughout the course of their married life. I expect to prove that he even denied her pin money."

"I am glad this matter was brought up, your honor," said the husband's attorney. "I will gladly stipulate that he denied her pin money—but only because the pin had 10 diamonds set in it and cost $25,000."

A bird at Cambridge had citizenship papers refused him because his wife accused him of too much drinking and being unable to get work. Bet he thinks this a heluva country.

WAS TOO LATE
Knowledge, we are told, is a great thing. But what we aren't told is that often it is pretty useless. For instance a lot of us had just got around to being able to pronounce Ceecho-Slovakia and suddenly it wasn't.

There are many prominent people who started their careers on a show string. Nowadays it seems a G string does just as well.

Occasionally we read that a complete vegetable diet will give one a trim figure. But then it comes to mind that both the elephant and the hippopotamus eat nothing but vegetables.

UNAFRAID
"If you eat another piece of cake, you'll surely burst," said mother. "Then pass the cake and clear the way."

Responded little brother:

—Clipped.

We are suspicious. Today the butcher's daughter wanted to advertise for a lost dog.

A married lady told us yesterday that a woman is the brains of a home. We always thought that and it's a good thing if some one in the house has the brains needed to run a home.

In life, the family attic isn't the only place where, if you forget to duck, you'll get your head bumped.

NO EASY MARK

A little boy was told he had to go to the hospital to have his tonsils taken out, and his mother was bolstering up his morale.

"I'll be brave, and do just what they tell me, Ma," Johnny promised. "But I betcha they don't like palm oil no cryin' baby on me like they did when you was in the hospital."

There are drugs that promote wakefulness and every tired business man should dose himself with such a pick-me-up before making a social call. Reader's Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel: I am soon to be married to a man who is an executive in a large concern. If his staff and fellow-executives (whom I do not know) send gifts, who writes the notes of thanks. If I write it, how shall I sign my name and should the notes be sent before or after the wedding?—Bride.

Answer: The bride should send notes of thanks even to the friends of her fiancé, whom she does not know. Sign your name, "Mary Brown" omitting "Miss." Such notes should be sent before the wedding—as soon as each gift is received.

Dear Miss Markel: I was told it is incorrect for a girl to say, "I was introduced to him." Is this so?—Mary.

Answer: Yes. Women are never introduced to men. Say "I met him." "He was introduced to me"—also correct—sounds stilted.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader inclosing a self-addressed three cent stamped envelope.

THE MAN WHO IS TWELVE YEARS OLD

I know a man who lives near by. In the land called Everywhere. You may not think he's a man by his hat.

Or the clothes he may choose to wear.

But 'neath his jacket with many a patch Lies a heart more precious than gold. The heart of a man 'neath the coat of a boy.

The man who is twelve years old.

For we never can tell what the future may make Of the boys we carelessly meet. For many a congressman is doing the chores

And presidents play in the street. The hand that is busy with playthings now

The reins of power will hold. So I take off my hat and I proudly salute

The man who is twelve years old.

These have been very "touching" days around The News office.

But the correct definition of a man fond of music is a fellow who, when he hears a girl singing in the bath room, puts his ear to the key-hole.

It isn't until after a man gets out his pipe and slippers that the wife telephones to the little girl next door to come over and tend the baby so they can step out and go places.

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP

A saleswoman—in one of the city's biggest stores—had a strange experience the other day. A friend who had taken out a suit from a competitor's store on approval, visited the saleswoman in the store where she was employed, bringing along the suit.

"Would you mind looking at the suit on me?" asked the friend.

"I'll be glad to," was the reply of the obliging saleswoman.

"It was a queer feeling," explained the saleswoman, "as I carefully inspected the suit. She had picked out one in our store, too, that she liked. The competitor's suit did look nice on her, and I told her so. Then she put me on the spot by asking which suit she should buy. I did not want to be a knocker, yet I knew for sure I was going to be loyal to the store that employs me, so I said, 'both suits are nice; why not buy both of them?' And she did."

Refreshments: Any rich and poisonous midnight mixture that nobody would think of putting in his stomach at home.

It seems there is a lot of queer stuff pulled off at elections. It seems to make more trouble than the stuff pulled off before the vote is cast.

What's What At A Glance

Capital Hill Turns Out Early
Solons Eager To Hear Hitler
Various Opinions Are Expressed

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

Washington, Oct. 11.

UNDOUBTEDLY more senators, representatives and officials of the executive end of the government were out of bed at 6 a. m. on Oct. 6 than ever before in all Washington's history. Congressmen in particular normally are not very early risers. Usually they do not convene until noon, and it takes something more emphatic than a mere rooster's crew to terminate their slumbers before 10 or 11 o'clock.

But this was a special occasion. They wanted to hear that speech of Herr Hitler's as it came in over the radio.

That a lot of them did hear it, thus, I know for a fact. Having arisen myself at the unearthly hour mentioned for the same purpose as the lawmakers, I got down to the capitol—I hadn't any other place to go—much ahead of my customary time for getting there. And I found the concern already swarming with legislators.

They'd heard the speech, too. Adolf delivered it too late for the morning papers on this side of the Atlantic to print, and yet it was too early for the first afternoon editions.

However, these solons had the thing completely digested and were talking and arguing about it. Some of them did it with a certain amount of intelligence. Practically nobody seemed to like it. The critics said it was vague, that it was a bluff, that it was disingenuous, that Adolf was just trying to establish a case for himself, that you couldn't believe a word he uttered, either. The consensus was that the allies wouldn't pay a bit of attention to it, and that, if they did, they'd be suckers.

American neutrality talk wasn't modified a particle. True, our two different kinds of neutralists weren't in the least reconciled. The isolationists and the modificationists are as far apart as ever. They do agree, nevertheless, that there's no trusting Hitler. Adolf surely wouldn't have been flattered if he could have had that early morning chat at our capitol marked back to him.

Even Field Marshal Goering, who introduced the Fuehrer and postscripted the latter's speech also, was referred to rather more kindly than his boss was.

Hitler Is Despised

The Marshall's assertion that Germany is 100 per cent back of his leader actually received some serious consideration. Many a congressman has been hopeful that Adolf presently will have a revolution on his hands at home. Goering's contention that nothing of the kind is possible was considerably discounted, inasmuch as Goering unquestionably is violently prejudiced. Still, what he argued was regarded as at least interesting. Besides, Goering isn't personally as unpopular on Capital Hill as Hitler is.

The former's been described here as a pretty good fellow individually—but not Adolf. Goering, they say, drinks beer and is a genial chap. Hitler's pictured as a crab, a vegetarian and a total abstainer—an anti-cigar fiend likewise. Yet Senator Sheppard himself (the author of the Eighteenth amendment) despises him.

While the gabble concerning the speech was still in progress in the capitol offices and corridors radio bulletins began to come in to the effect that London and Paris were turning thumbs down on the Fuehrer's alleged peace overtures.

All our legislative commentators immediately declared that that was exactly what they'd expected—and they didn't blame London and Paris.

That Neutral Zone

The British and French, however, haven't overpopularized themselves by announcing that they can't acquiesce in a Pan-American neutral zone as far out at sea as the one we have scheduled. There's a deal of capitol sentiment to the purport that allied warships had better keep out of that zone, or they, too, may get into trouble with the American maritime police force.

Executive Washington isn't quite as instantly vocal as legislative Washington is. All the same, it's evident at once that it isn't pro-Hitler.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

Copyright, 1939, by The Baltimore Sun

The Undercover Game

Washington, Oct. 11. THE correct attitude for an American citizen when his country is at war or threatened with war is to support the President whether he thinks he has been a good or a bad President. There is nothing else to do.

BUT this does not mean that in a period when there is no involvement imminent and the debate is only on how to stay out, it is necessary to be blind, deaf and dumb to what is going on under cover in Presidential circles. Cooperation on foreign policy ought not to mean covering up palace politics. Yet that is what the palace politicians are anxious to have it mean. I happen to believe that the President's proposal to raise the embargo is right though I think to call it neutral is hypocritical. But that hardly involves an obligation to keep quiet about the calculated effort of Mr. Roosevelt's political strategists to utilize the present war situation to keep Mr. Roosevelt in the White House and themselves in power.

So far from Mr. Ickes' determination not to discuss the third term in his recent radio debate being evidence that the third-term movement has been even temporarily suspended, the reverse is true. Actually, the people who were most active in managing the movement before the war broke out, and who were deeply depressed at the way it had bogged down are today in a high state of excitement over the prospects and, hiding behind the non-partisan attitude of the President, are more energetically pushing it than they were before.

THE strategy this time is to avoid publicity rather Lawrence county commissioners to Don Gordon, Wayne township, $50.

Frank H. Kroen to Belle Tullis, Sixth ward, $1.

Road supervisors of Neshannock township conferred with the county commissioners today regarding the allotment of funds for top dressing of Euclid avenue, and the Graceland road. They feared that they will not have enough money to complete the work on Euclid avenue. The commissioners took the matter under consideration.

In the case of the City of New Castle against the County of Lawrence and others, requests for findings of fact and conclusions of law have been submitted to court in behalf of all defendants. This is a case growing out of the tax problems arising between the city, county and Shenango township, over Cascade Park and the municipal golf course.

A misunderstanding seems to exist in some quarters relative to new rules governing the issuance of hunting licenses, according to County Treasurer, V. I. Mandich. Hunters are requested to fill out applications this year before licenses can be obtained. If an applicant does not appear in person but asks another to obtain his license, his proxy must take with him one of the forms bearing the signature of the actual applicant. Such a proxy must present identification of the applicant, such as a letter or driving license. The new procedure is designed to reduce the number of incorrect addresses which have caused confusion in state headquarters.

County Controller Frank Hill has made out a statement of the business of the register and recorder's office for the month of August, together with cash receipts. The statement shows 223 deeds recorded for which the receipts were $516.45; 18 wills and letters, $108.25; 75 satisfactions, $18.75; 17 final accounts, $114.35; 109 copies and certificates, $69; 7 miscellaneous, $6.50; total, 449 instruments, $833.80. Less state tax, $123, or net cash due county, $710.80.

Will of the late Carrie E. Crawford, also known as Caroline Crawford, has been probated at the office of Register and Recorder, Orville Potter. Decedent directs that her real estate be sold, and makes the following bequests: To Harry E. Crawford, and James A. Crawford, sons of decedent's brothers, Joseph E. Crawford, each $500.

MEN LIKE GIRLS WITH "OOMPH"
Years ago it was the "it" girl—last year the "glamor" girl and today it's the girl with "oomph"—and pep who attracts men and has all the dates, fun and success in life. Remember no man likes a dull, cross, nervous woman!
Perhaps all you need is a good "woman's" tonic. If so, try famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Let it help lessen female functional distress, calm moody nerves and give you glorious new energy and pep by promoting better digestion and assimilation of your food—by helping build up your physical resistance.
Recent medical tests have proved Pinkham's Compound to be one of the most effective "woman's" tonics. WELL WORTH TRYING.

It leaves out entirely any discussion of the new ride, the new handling ease, and of the mighty Cadillac V-8 engines which power them all. It does so deliberately, because only a look and a ride can demonstrate the true greatness of these cars. Why not make a personal investigation—today?

OFFICIALLY, the White House keeps in position to deny all consideration of politics. Its publicity directors keep the emphasis on the "abandon politisanship" note, but the palace politicians wroking like beavers, are preparing to put what some call the "nose twitch" on Mr. Farley to play along with them. The more the President can be kept with his head in the air making nonpartisan gestures, the better for the movement. Hence, he is being urged, first, to avoid anything that looks like an effort to dictate to Congress; second, to take some action to gratify those well-meaning Republicans, like Col. Frank Knox, who have been talking of "coalition government." To this end he is advised to end the feud in the War Department by dropping both Mr. Woodring and Mr. Johnson and naming as Secretary of War an outstanding Republican.

NOTHING, it is urged, could better promote his renomination. It would be a political net strike—and very smart, indeed. It would be commended by every newspaper in the country. It would immensely strengthen his position without really meaning anything at all. This idea has gotten to the point where the names of Col. William J. Donovan, Representatives James Wadsworth, Mr. Dwight Davis and ex-Secretary of State Stimson have been discussed by the White House strategists. There is no reason to believe that in a time of peace any of these men seriously would consider accepting a post which would merely mean absorption into the Roosevelt Administration. Not one would relish being used for bait. Nearly all would be too clear-headed to see the game. But that the third-term schemers are for it is absolutely true. They are for it, not because there is among them so much as a trace of nonpartisanship, but because they believe this non-partisan game is the way to smooth opposition and bring about a Roosevelt renomination. It is a slick idea, but for a number of reasons it is not likely to work.

They are for it, not because there is among them so much as a trace of nonpartisanship, but because they believe this non-partisan game is the way to smooth opposition and bring about a Roosevelt renomination. It is a slick idea, but for a number of reasons it is not likely to work.

ONE is that when this embargo fight is out of the way, there will be a revival of interest in domestic issues and an eagerness among the anti-New Deal Democrats who are supporting the President's proposals to demonstrate that they are not supporting the President. Another is that Mr. Farley will not prove amenable to the pressure it is proposed to put on him; another is that before long this war psychosis will have worn itself out. And there are others.

Highland Church Stressing Music In Year's Program

Half Hour Instruction In Voice
Work Planned For Each
Choir Rehearsal Night

Under the direction of Robert A. Duff, director of music at Highland U. P. church, a miniature choir school is being organized this year to be held in connection with the regular rehearsals of the Highland choir. Under this plan, a half hour or more of instruction will be given each week prior to the rehearsal of the choir. This instruction will be mainly in the several phases of voice production, but with other subjects included, such as musical theory, sight singing, ear training, conducting, hymnology and all phases of choir work.

Mr. Duff is well known in the city as the director of choral music at St. John's Lutheran and Central Presbyterian churches. Last year he directed the choral club chorus in a very successful season.

His choral training after graduation from Wooster College, was with the Westminster Choir School, now of Princeton, N. J., where for two years he was a member of the famous Westminster choir, under the direction of Dr. John Finley Williamson. This past summer he attended the Christiansen Choral School at Chambersburg, Pa., which is under the direction of Dr. F. Melius Christiansen, well-known composer and director of St. Olaf's Choir of Northfield, Minn.

This miniature "choir school" is primarily for the members of the Highland choir, but others may attend who so desire. It will meet at 7:15 on Friday evenings in the Sunday school room of Highland church.

Mr. Duff also directs a junior choir Fridays at 4:15 p. m., for boys and girls of school age up to seventh grade, and a young people's choir which meets each Thursday at 6:30 p. m.

MALNUTRITION HAS MANY CAUSES

Malnutrition is an affliction which most people associate with poverty and want and slums. Unfortunately its field isn't as narrow as this, for it appears in some of the best homes where the table groans with food at every meal.

Parents often bring a child to me with the explanation that he is thin and pale and doesn't seem to have strength or endurance. Inquiry usually brings out that the child's appetite is poor, that he is easily upset emotionally, and that when these upsets occur he will often refuse food altogether. Constipation often is a marked symptom and the child, unlike other members of the family, is cross and irritable. In most cases, too, the poor child is subject to frequent infections and in winter has one cold after another.

Examining the patient, you see a small, thin, pale child, usually with circles under the eyes, with poor posture, round shoulders and slouching walk. Muscle tone will almost certainly be very poor, which will account for his slouchy posture and the fact that his abdominal muscles fail to give him support.

These are the known symptoms of a child suffering from malnutrition, yet time and again parents have refused to recognize these warnings. A common excuse for little Johnny's condition is that: "He's just like his father was when he was a boy."

The first need in the treatment of such a case is to improve the child's general health, and about the first step in that direction is to search carefully for some focus of infection. It isn't at all unusual to find a set of diseased tonsils and adenoids, so first the nose and throat should come in for a careful examination. Teeth and sinuses also should be checked, and the heart and chest examined for evidences of infection.

Decayed teeth play a greater part in malnutrition than most people think. It used to be commonly believed that the first teeth aren't important; that since they fall out at an early age, there is no need to have them cared for. The result quite often is that a child's teeth become filled with cavities, and of course this interferes with the child's appetite. This is one way malnutrition may begin.

A child suffering from malnutrition must be watched very carefully and the treatment must be diligent. Failure to gain weight may be due to different causes. I have known children whose appetites returned and who grew rapidly better when a few bad teeth had been extracted or filled. In other cases, removing bad tonsils or adenoids caused the child's feeding habits to pick up immediately and he began to gain weight and strength normally.

At times there is no focus of infection, but the child's feeding habits are just naturally poor, or the choice of food is inadequate, either because of poverty or lack of knowledge in choosing foods.

The Human Side Of The News
(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

In past decades or centuries, all the men with whom Britain engaged in the diplomatic tierce and riposte would have been passed by the membership committee of the gentlemen's club which ran England. That gave the British foreign office both assurance and a dependable technique in empire building. The ground rules were as definite and durable as the cricket rules at Eton and Harrow.

In this pattern of international behavior, the British gentleman became an article of export, and international negotiation became a matter of certain ancient proprieties. This being true, I have an idea that much of the confusion and apparent bewilderment of the British high command, in the last ten years, is due to the fact that the Metternichs, the Tallyrands, the von Moltkes, the von Bernhards have passed, and unpedigreed, uncultured and largely inexperienced power men have risen to take their places.

It would seem quite impossible that Sir Samuel Hoare, of Ye Olde Golden Bottle Bank, dating back to the reign of Charles I, could ever have known a man such as the base-born Adolf Schickelgruber, or the scowling, ham-fisted Joseph Deshugaskvili, who came to the chancelleries under the assumed names of Hitler and Stalin.

That, in itself, is embarrassing. A man couldn't get into a good London club under an assumed name. And then there's the chest-beating blacksmith's son, Benito Mussolini, using his own name, to be sure, but given to behavior which no responsible house committee would sanction.

One thinks of the old story of Bernhardt's Cleopatra, at the old Odeon theatre in the days of Good Queen Vic. A slave reported the loss of a battle and Cleopatra, in a magnificent outburst of lurid rage, smashed the furniture, tore up the draperies and pretty nearly wrecked the theatre. It was Bernhardt's greatest moment of glorious abandon, and it set the French audience wild. After the tumult ebbed and the theatre was hushed and expectant, a grandmotherly little Englishwoman was heard to murmur: "How unlike the home life of our own dear queen."

One gets the contrast between British decorum and a world untutored in the ancient rubric of proper behavior. It is no wonder that Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, visiting Hitler shortly after Munich, failed in a realistic estimate of Herr Schickelgruber. He returned and told England.

On no account must we fall from the height of exultation to which the world was lifted by the Munich peace.

And so it was with Halifax, MacMillan, Chamberlain, Simon, Beaverbrook and all the others of the leaders of British foreign missions to the strange Ammonites and Hittites who behave in an unseemly manner, but who, they hoped to the last, would be all right if you met them half way.

It is rare that one not a public school man has ever penetrated into the de facto government, or inner cabinet, of about 30 men who rule England. The beloved Mr. Chips has helped us get this straight over here, the public school of England being just the reverse of ours—a school for the sons of gentlemen only.

This has given British statesmanship high character and culture, and it has stunted good brains into the government, but it has isolated their leaders from certain important realities and it has concealed from them many of the political facts of life, and certainly any politician is handicapped in this day and age if he knows and understands only nice people.

We intend to restrain ourselves from smug citations of our own superiority and well-being as against Europe's tragedy, but I cannot help noting that our political way of life groups us for more realism. I'm thinking of a senate committee meeting I once attended, presided over by the blue-blooded and grammatical old Senator Lodge. A Missouri senator was tossing in soliloquies, and a Kansas senator had soup on his vest. In this flux and free-for-all the homespun senators learned to know and respect the Back Bay Brahmin and vice versa. More of that kind of milling would have done the British statesmen a lot of good in this last critical decade.

Senators Propose Congress Direct U. S. Foreign Policy

Sen. Wheeler Sponsors Plan

Sen. Clark Joins In Proposal
—New Issue In Neutrality Battle

CONGRESS SHOULD STAY IN SESSION

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—A proposal that congress take over a major portion of America's foreign policy direction while Europe is at war was injected into the neutrality fight today.

Senator Wheeler (D) Montana, sponsored the suggestion, and was joined by Senator Clark (D) Missouri, who planned to propose a method for such action in his neutrality speech to the senate this afternoon.

Wheeler said he did not intend his proposal as a criticism of the White House or state department—charged normally with the function of foreign policy direction. But, he explained, "these are not normal times," and that he would advocate such procedure were the administration Republican instead of Democratic.

Should Consult Congress
"While the European war is going on," he said, "not a move should be made by the state department or any other executive branch of the government which might affect foreign policy without first consulting congress. In this emergency the judgment of the people should be consulted and the congress represents the people."

Wheeler proposed a continuous session of congress for the purpose of "critical examination" of every move. Senator George (D) Georgia, supporting the administration's Arms Embargo Repeal Neutrality Bill—Wheeler opposes it—agreed "in spirit" with the Montana senator's proposal for constant sessions. However, he said he thought a month or six weeks rest after conclusion of the special session on neutrality "wouldn't hurt."

"We should come back in January and stay pretty constantly on the job," he said.

The new proposal came as administration forces moved to counter charges of opposition senators that the 90 day credit clause in the cash-and-carry section of the bill would, in effect, give belligerents sufficient credit to outfit their fighting forces for years to come.

Ellwood Joint Host To State Convention With Beaver Falls

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 11.—Ellwood City joined hands with Beaver Falls today in welcoming the annual two-day state convention—in Beaver Falls—of the Community System Association. The two cities are co-hosts, but business sessions are being held in Hotel Broadhead in the Beaver county city.

Demonstrating that the convention is a two-city affair, the delegates motored to Ellwood City caravan-style this afternoon to meet the local Community Loan Association leaders and to be greeted by public officials at the borough hall.

Caravan At Borough Hall
Leaving Beaver Falls early, the entourage came here via Country Club road, thence across by the North Star school and past Wurttemberg Heights and Wurttemberg to the New Castle highway on to Ewing Park and then into town.

The visitors paused at the Community Loan association office, Sixth street, for local loan leaders to welcome them. Then they went to borough hall. A tour of the industrial section, including a full inspection of The Ellwood company plant, came just before the party headed back for tonight's opening convention banquet in Beaver Falls.

Braddock Man Presiding
Convention sessions opened at Hotel Broadhead with President Arthur E. Davis, Braddock business and civic leader, presiding. Prominent guests attending the opening included: Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Lippman and Irvin Yoffee, Harrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. Myron Bone, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. George Richter, Rochester, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Daehoulsen, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and James H. Jarrell, Chicago, Ill.

Headlining the social end of the two-day conclave is the dinner program at 7 o'clock. An Ellwood City orchestra will play. George Bailey, whose memory never fails, is scheduled to handle the big job of entertaining with his special feature, "Magic, Music and Fun."

To Hear Local Leaders
Joseph A. White, vice president of Harris Stores company, Pittsburgh, who will be Thursday's principal speaker, will discuss "The Merchant's Viewpoint of Installment Selling." He speaks at tomorrow's luncheon. The public may attend. Sharing speaking honors during tomorrow's session will be Russell J. "Denny" Schill, secretary of the Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce, and W. F. Kegel, editor of the Ellwood City Ledger. Others to be heard will be Attorney Leonard Ewing of Beaver Falls, and Nobel B. Waggener, secretary of the Beaver Falls Board of Trade. While the men are kept busy with convention business, wives of delegates and guests will be enjoying themselves in a social program arranged by local women. Luncheon is to be served tomorrow in Hotel Broadhead and then bridge will be enjoyed. Miss Helen Sefton Knight, talented musician and entertainer, will present a program during luncheon.

Ellwood Entertains Monaca Hi Saturday

Coach Croft Greatly Pleased With Wolverines Performance At Butler

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 11.—Genial Head Coach Thurman "Dutch" Croft was greatly pleased with the manner in which the Ellwood high school football team performed against the highly favored Butler eleven last Friday night, holding them to a scoreless tie in four savagely fought quarters.

"This is the only fighting ball club I've ever seen in Ellwood. Last year's team was outstanding, but they won because they had enough experience to outplay the other teams and not because they were a fighting team," Croft said in speaking about Friday's game, and those who saw the contest will agree that Ellwood's blocking and tackling was superior enough to bring satisfaction to any coach.

The team's lack of offensive drive is due entirely to inexperience, the leader declares, and is pleased but not satisfied with the progress being shown in that field.

Reino and Lanzi both received injuries in the Butler clash and will be out of Saturday's game at Lincoln field when Lee Schachner's Monaca lads put in an appearance here.

Taylor will fill Lanzi's position at left guard and Greco will be at the left half, where he alternates with Reino. DeCarlo, a tenth grader, who made an excellent showing in the Union Township game, has won a place on the second team and will likely see action in one of the wing positions.

Because of the outstanding performance of Bob Miller as a substitute in the Rochester and Butler games he has been awarded the first string position at right tackle. Last year he was a leading player in the end position.

While the Monaca team has won only one game in four tries and that over Beaver, they are a fighting club, too, and Ellwood fans recall that in 1931 they turned a complete season of victories sour for the Wolverines by defeating them soundly in the final game, after a most unsuccessful season. They have a remarkable feat to their credit in holding the powerful Midland outfit to a 13-0 score.

Mrs. Stanley Kifer presented Mrs. Harry Laughlin as a new member. An added feature of the day was the rendition of two selections by a trio, Mrs. S. C. Mullin, Mrs. E. G. Osterhouse and Mrs. H. C. Steinberger, accompanied by Mrs. W. L. Dean.

Tea and other dainty refreshments were served in conclusion by the hostesses, Mesdames, Emmett Liebenfelder, R. J. Schill, J. D. Sartwell, W. L. Dean, M. D. Moyer, J. Ellis Bell, H. J. Furniss, Harold Burns, J. K. Painter and John Ketterer.

Girl Scout Day will be observed at the November meeting on Tuesday, the 14th, at the regular meeting place.

At the close of the afternoon the hostess was aided in serving a dainty lunch by Miss Jean Simpson. The place of the November meeting on Tuesday, the 14th, will be decided.

Surprise Fire Drill In Ellwood Schools

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 11.—A "surprise" fire drill, conducted by Fire Chief Harry Wolfe, Captain Cecil Kocher and Chamber Secretary, Denny Schill, sent every child out of their respective buildings yesterday morning.

No one except the three conducting the drill knew of the time and date of the drill which was part of the city Fire Prevention Week of activities.

Fire Chief Wolfe criticized some schools on not taking care of the crippled children in case of fire and also will ask all schools to appoint monitors to close all windows and doors before leaving the building.

The approach to the fire escapes on the Circle School is through windows and the Board of Education will be asked to turn these windows into doors due to the fact that the children on the upper floor who have to use the fire escapes have to stoop and one child falling in case of fire might cause a stampede.

All previous records were broken again in the grade schools and splendid organization was found in every grade school building.

The High School was five seconds slower than last year and this is due to a larger enrollment of pupils this year over last year.

The following report on the schools will be submitted to the Board of Education:
1. West End School, 190 pupils; time taken to empty building, 37 seconds.

Remarks: This is an excellent record. Good order and better last year's time by four seconds.

2. Circle School, 165 pupils; time taken to empty building, 58.1 seconds.

Remarks: Excellent record. Good order and better last years time by two seconds.

3. Fourth Ward School, 440 pupils; time taken to empty building, 1:12.

Remarks: Excellent record. Good order and better last years time by three seconds.

4. Ewing Park School, 163 pupils; time taken to empty building, 42 seconds.

Remarks: Excellent record with excellent order. Bettered last years time by 3 seconds.

5. Hartman School, 796 pupils; time taken to empty building, 1:20.

Remarks: Excellent record with excellent order. Bettered last years time by 1 second.

6. Lincoln School, 1977; time taken to empty building, 2:47.

Remarks: Fair record. 5 seconds more time consumed this year than last year.

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 11.—Arrangements for the annual "Dollar Day" dinner to be held on Tuesday evening, October 24, in the form of a turkey dinner at the church were made by members of the Mary Braeden Circle of the Wurttemberg U. P. church when they were pleasantly entertained last evening by Mrs. Lester Pander, of Wurttemberg.

The Senior Women's Society will join the event this year and former members and friends of both groups will be invited to attend. Entertainment will be in charge of Mrs. J. E. Caughey and Miss Edith Worcester.

It was decided to increase the Murdoch-McCrory missionary offering this year and to give a contribution to the church furnace fund. The society will make apple butter on Thursday, October 19, at the home of Mrs. Donald Hepler, of Wurttemberg.

Mrs. Hepler led the opening devotional period with members reading articles from the missionary magazine. Two chapters of the home study book, "City Shadows," were reviewed by Mrs. Robert Taylor and Mrs. Earl Badger.

After partaking of delicious, seasonal refreshments, members departed to meet again on Tuesday, November 7, at the home of Mrs. Wilbert Cowan, Ellport.

Honor Memory Of Count Pulaski

Today Marks 160th Anniversary Of Death At Savannah, Georgia

One hundred sixty years ago today Count Casimir Pulaski, or as we spell it now, Pulaski, died of wounds at Savannah, Ga., suffered as an officer in the cause of the American Revolutionists.

Count Pulaski was a wealthy Pole, of noble blood who fought against the first partition of Poland by Russia, Prussia and Austria. For his patriotism he was forced to flee the country, his property was confiscated and in 1775 he was in the Turkish Army.

A year or so later he met Benjamin Franklin in Paris and impressed by the story Franklin told of the heroic struggle of the American colonists he announced his intention of coming to the new country to fight.

He did, and established a unit of cavalry, the foundation of the United States cavalry system. He is still known as the father of the American Cavalry. With Pulaski, another Pole fought for the Revolutionists, Thaddeus Kosciuszko.

Today on the 160th anniversary of his death the nation of Casimir Pulaski is again overrun with alien hordes.

great in the Midwest. Utah is tops in the Rockies. And U. S. C., Oregon, St. Mary's and U. C. L. A. are the people on the coast."

"But who can say how many of them will stand up against teams that already have been beaten? The picture changes from week to week and we are thankful that so many intercollegiate games give us a better slant on who's who around the country."

Harvard Favored

And that reminds us that two of the aforementioned unbeaten teams, Pitt and Duke, clash head-on Saturday and one of them probably will find itself eliminated from future Rose Bowl consideration.

The Pitt-Duke game undoubtedly rates top billing, but the Fordham-Tulane meeting will not be far behind in general interest. Fordham has a potentially great team and if it irons out some kinks in the left side of its line, may prove a surprise package for Tulane.

Harvard is no good for Chicago.
Southern California shouldn't find Notre Dame too troublesome but Notre Dame may discover that S. M. U. is not so weak as its record might indicate.

Favor Villanova

Villanova, always one of the best in the east, should show out the strong Texas Aggies and Holy Cross,
the No. 1 dissapointment so far,
probably will come back and slaughter poor Georgia.

Unbeaten N. Y. U. always makes most of the yardage and North Carolina makes most of the points when they meet but this time the New Yorkers believe they have enough stuff to offset their southern jinx.

Temple has a corking team but it is playing one of the most killing schedules in the country. It has another terrific battle on hand this Saturday when the Texas Christians come north to fill the Philadelphia air full of forward passes.
This should be one of the best-played and most bitterly contested games of the day.

shots were fired at the traps Saturday at the Fair grounds. The cable along which the electrically operated deer sped was broken several times by shots. According to reports some very good deer shooting was staged. The shots were scored according to the place the bullet struck the deer.

Titan Halfback Is On Sidelines

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 11.—
Art Edwards, regular Westminster Titan halfback, has been put on the sidelines for an indefinite period,
to give a dislocated shoulder time
to heal.

For the second time this season,
Edwards' shoulder has slipped out of place. Head Coach Washbaugh ordered a prolonged rest for the Titan back, awaiting improvement.
Pete Evanoff, Erie sophomore, Edwards' understudy, has taken over the right half position vacated by Edwards, and has shown that he is capable of effective ball-carrying, blocking and pass-receiving.

SOLDIER POSES AS TREE

(International News Service)
NEW YORK—A veteran of the war games at Pittsburgh where 52,000 American soldiers went through highly artificial battles tells this story.

A staff car was speeding down a side road when it was halted by an infantryman waving the branch of a tree.

"You can't go through here," the infantryman said. "I'm a fallen tree."

"Beat" Johnstown Is High Slogan Heard This Week

One Of Most Important Games Of Year, Saturday, Brings Johnstown Here

New Castle High Will Fight
Hard To Avoid Tie Or Defeat At Hands Of Flood Cityans

Taggart Stadium Saturday afternoon will be the scene of a football struggle that has all of Western Pennsylvania agog. What will win the important Johnstown-New Castle game? That is the question behind asked in all Class AA schools today.

Here in New Castle the home of rabit football fans and students the slogan is "Beat Johnstown". Out on Taggart Stadium greensward every afternoon this week the New Castle High team has and will give their best to get in the pink of condition for the meeting Saturday that has all the earmarks of a championship battle.

Title Just Ahead

The team that wins Saturday may go ahead to the highest pinnacle of scholastic football in this end of the state—the Class AA Conference championship.

There is a lot at stake Saturday—
two fine scholastic teams risking undefeated records. There is bound to be a titanic engagement. Johnstown has won five straight games.
New Castle has four in the "bag".
New Castle has perhaps faced tougher opponents than the "Johnnies".

Coaches Worried

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh wants to win this one more than any other game on the card outside of Washington. The series stands even at one and one. Coach J.
Harold "Duke" Weigle of Johnstown wants equally as well to take it.
Both coaches will shoot with everything at their command. There will be plays used in this important game that haven't had the wrappers off this season to date.

Both coaches will do plenty of worrying this week. Johnstown has been beaten just once since the present coaching staff took over in 1938. McKeesport was the team that turned the trick in the WPIAL Class AA playoff at the Pitt Stadium 39 to 20. Windber High holds a 6-6 deadlock with the Flood City boys.

Three Holdovers

There is no standout player on the Johnstown team. They all shape up well, and have a hard running attack that all four of the backfield men participate in. There are only three holdovers from the varsity team of 1938—Longacre, Ream and Batasja.

Tickets are going well at the Sporting Goods store for the game.
There is a Johnstown special train due here at 12:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon carrying the team, band and several hundred fans.

Boy Scouts Help At Field Trials

Boy Scouts of Lawrence county gave valuable aid to the Lawrence County Sportsman's Council when field trials were held at the Fair grounds.

There were 68 Boy Scouts at work. 14 of them were from Ellwood City. Eight leaders were included in the 68.

The boys were in charge of Scout Commissioner Ralph Davis and Scout Executive John Finnessey.
They took charge of the parking of automobiles and otherwise made their services valuable to the sportsmen's committees.

Bears To Play Youngstown Team

The Wabash Bears will play the fast Youngstown Merchants football team Sunday at the E. & A. field at 3 o'clock. It was announced today by Business Manager Willie Domenick.

The Bears will be without the services of Albert Conti, the big tackle for the rest of the year, the lad having broken a bone in his ankle. Skip Russo will be assigned to handle the tackle job. The team will workout every night this week at the E. & A. field.

England needs smart men to save her now. And the ones who led her blindly to the verge of doom can't qualify.

Don't expect the German people to revolt. People see no fault in a man who is bringing home the bacon.

Must Build Up

With that Barrow quote clearly stated the New York club's position as being headed for as many pennants and as many world series
victories as it is possible to win.
The rest of the American League
clubs have their choice of continuing to take their bumps or of building up to the Yankee level.

REVOLVER SHOOT SET FOR TONIGHT

There will be a shoot held at the Cathedral range tonight by the Sportsman's Revolver club at 7:30 o'clock. It was announced by Karl Douglas, secretary of the club. All members are asked to be present as there will be some important business to be taken up.

"Will Put Another Strong Team On Field And Will Try For Pennant"
Ed Barrow

OTHER CLUBS MUST START BUILDING UP

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports
Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—What is baseball going to do about the New York Yankees?

That question confronted club owners in both leagues today as the Cincinnati Reds licked their wounds of frustration and humility and the rest of the major league teams looked ahead to continued domination of the game by the world champions for an indefinite period. Around baseball headquarters during the world series some of the baseball people made no secret of their belief that Yankee supremacy has become a detriment to the game, but to all this they had a succinct, pointed reply
today from President Ed Barrow,
who said:

"We are going to put the strongest possible Yankee team on the field next year—and the year after that."

Must Build Up

With that Barrow quote clearly
stated the New York club's position as being headed for as many
pennants and as many world series
victories as it is possible to win.
The rest of the American League
clubs have their choice of continuing to take their bumps or of
building up to the Yankee level.

The same goes for the National Leaguers in the world series.

There is no denying that, as they stand today compared with the rest of the clubs, the Yankees have made of the pennant race and the world series nothing more than empty formalities, in which they simply remove the element of competition, then take the world series in much the same manner.

However, the Yankees also have built up baseball interest to a tremendous pitch and have helped to keep the game alive in the bush leagues through their far-flung farm holdings.

Balancing one against the other they seem to have done considerably more to help
baseball than to hurt it.

Bids For Ballots

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has approved a proposal of the County Commissioners to invite sealed bids for the printing and delivery to the County House, in appropriate packages, of the ballots for the Municipal Election to be held Tuesday, November 7, 1939. Said bids are to be based on the unit price for 1,000 ballots and fractional parts of 1,000 ballots, that is, the unit price to be the basis of the bids and the fractional part of 1,000 ballots is to be paid proportionately. Said ballots shall be printed on the quality of paper with the size and form of type and with the arrangement as to the offices to be filled and the candidates for the same, with the widths and location of margins required by the laws of this Commonwealth, and in all things and in all respects comply with said laws. Said ballots are to be delivered to the office of the County Commissioners at the County House, New Castle, Pennsylvania, on or before Wednesday, November 1, 1939, as to the districts outside of the City of New Castle, Pennsylvania, and on or before Thursday, November 2, 1939, as to the ballots for use in the City of New Castle.

The approximate number of ballots required are as follows: Official Ballots 46,575; Specimen Ballots 4,830; Official Reserve Ballots 4,830; Special Reserve Ballots 1,290; grand total 57,525.

A statement of the approximate number of ballots for each election district and of the general arrangement of the ballot may be seen in the office of the County Commissioners.

Proof of the form of ballot shall be submitted to the County Commissioners for approval before any ballot shall be finally printed.

The successful bidder shall be required to enter into a written contract for the printing and delivery of said ballots and give the required bond, with sureties to be approved by the County Commissioners.

Each bid shall be submitted in a sealed envelope plainly marked "Ballot Bid" and will be received by the undersigned at his office on or before 10:00 o'clock A. M. Wednesday, October 18, 1939, at which time bids will be opened publicly by the County Commissioners at their office and the contract awarded to the lowest and best bidder. All bids must be accompanied by a certified check for $500.00 payable to the County Treasurer, Lawrence County, to be forfeited to the County in the event the County suffers loss by reason of the successful bidder not signing his contract and giving the required bond.

The County Commissioners hereby reserve the right to reject any and/or all bids.

Stock Market Is Irregular

Some Gains Are Made At Start But Profit-Taking Has Effect

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The stock market today again failed to carry through efforts to rally the general list. Leaders were up as much as a point at the start, but light profit-taking later cut gains and carried some issues under last night's closings. Trading was dull. Steels paced the market. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem gave early gains of 1/2 to 3/4, respectively, while Youngstown Sheet & Tube retained a minor margin over the previous close.

In chemicals, Allied lost a first-hour advance of a point, as DuPont held a fraction of its runup of 1 1/2. Chrysler was moderately active in motors, as it converted a gain of 1/2 into a loss of almost a point. General Motors was barely changed.

Coppers, rubbers, rails, building shares and utilities developed irregular price tendencies, after rallying generally higher at the opening.

Extreme gains of a point or more in Westinghouse Electric, Case, Eastman Kodak and Libbey-Owens-Ford were reduced before noon.

MACBETH WILL BE PRESENTED

Shakespearean Company To Perform At Senior High
Friday Night

Under the sponsorship of the English department of the Senior high school one performance of "Macbeth" will be presented in the high school auditorium on Friday night, October 13. The presentation will be by the James Hendrickson and Claire Bruce Company, a Shakespearean company that has been together for the past 12 years. "Macbeth" is one of the more grisly Shakespearean dramas. In 1040 Macbeth killed King Duncan and succeeded him but was himself killed in 1057 by Malcolm 3rd, Duncan's son.

The Hendricks-Bruce Company has been featuring appearances before colleges, universities and high schools and has in the supporting cast a group of talented young players.

Miss Bruce has a wide experience in the theatre back of her and was associated with Robert Mantell and Genevieve Hammer in Shakespearean drama and before that was with Morris Gest in "Mecca."

Will Harvest 21,000
Bushels Of Potatoes

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Oct. 11.—From his 70 acres of gently rolling, loamy land in Jackson township, John McDowell, Mercer-Jackson Center road, this fall expects to harvest 21,000 bushels of potatoes. If the current price of 90 cents per bushel is maintained until he gets them all marketed, McDowell's crop will bring him more than $18,000, and that is making money out of the good earth in any man's country.

This week, using a rather simple mechanical device attached to the rear of a tractor, McDowell is harvesting the largest portion of his crop, White Rurals and Russets, the best quality potatoes he has.

Yesterday the digger was rooting potatoes out of the ground, rows at a time, at a yield of more than 300 bushels per acre.
